Here comes the leaves, Oh no, where's my rake? Fall and Spring are my favorite times of the year. I have never minded the winter months, so I love the Fall; to me it is Winter's magnificent prelude.

OUR OWN STEVE PETTIT IS A KEY NOTE SPEAKER AT THIS EXCHANGE LIFE CONFERENCE

Dear Friends,

We are getting close to the date when we will gather in Dallas Texas for the second Life In Christ Conference this year – October 18-20. If you have already registered we are so excited that you will be joining us. If you have not registered, it's not too late and we would love to see you there.

We have one change in speakers since we sent the last note to you. Our three speakers will be Bob George, Steve Pettit, and Bill Ewing.

Please pass along the information about the conference to anyone whom you think would enjoy or benefit from it. We look forward to our time together in Dallas.

Gracefully yours,

Linda Davis

The Lord is connecting Scott and me with so many wonderful ministers, David Martin is no exception. Check out his web-site:

Here are some recent videos that Dave did for the Liberating Secret.

Program 2

Dave Martin was just out our house along with David and Becky Van Koevinger, and Chuck and Therese Thurston. These are all men and women of great faith. I believe that they all will be at our May conference. I am watching what Jesus is doing with all this, but something big is coming.

Remember my comments regarding meeting David and Becky Van Koevering, the Physicist, in the June Newsletter? If you don't remember, here is what I said. "The time at the Skaggs house was a wondrously glorious time. We met David and Becky Van Koevering, a physicist and inventor who has great scientific as well as Spiritual revelation on the nature of material reality. He says that matter is light slowed down to material manifestation, The slowing down of light first happened through the fall of Lucifer, and even more through the fall of man. David says matter has memory, and is changed by whoever observes it. He helped invent and develop the Moog synthesizer which is used by most musicians today. He also has great light on the mechanic of speaking the word of faith. David recently co-taught at a "Quantum Leap" conference with Chuck Missler. Check out www.elsewhen.com."

Are you Searching for a Church in Louisville that teaches the grace message? Look no more: Forty years ago in Fern Creek, Ky., the Lord taught me what it means to enter into His Amazing Grace, I wanted to share it with others—Miraculously, the Lord gave me a little group of children about junior high age, and I began a daily neighborhood bible study in my basement. I was so blessed, that all I could think about was asking the Lord for this message of grace to be taught in the whole Fern Creek (neighborhood right outside of Louisville) area. Can you believe it, 40 years later; here it is at Wayne Eads' Seaton Park Baptist Church, on Seatonville Rd in Fern Creek, Ky. What a mighty God we serve. What does that tell us faith folks?—It tells me to just expect it, God sees it already done, so why don't we? Forty years, Hum, that's biblical.

Wayne Eads and I went to Insight Studio and with the help and encouragement of Becky Malone, the technician there, we did two great Liberating Secret Programs that will air for a month here in Louisville on Sunday night at 9:00 on Public Access channel 98, Insight Cable TV. Check it out, and come to the Church and/or you are invited to come to the St. James Art Fair on Oct. 6 (Central Park area) and visit with Wayne and the church fellowship, along with Christ, Our Life Ministries—that's Scott, Dave and me and whoever else wants to. We will all be there for a Christian Music Fest. You will love it, come, we want to meet you!

We are just warming up for another Music Fest we are cooking up at Wayne's Church grounds next spring. We will let you know about that later. Here is Wayne's e-mail address for more info.: browayne@seatonpark.org

Hey look here see what Ricky, Sharon, Cheryl, and Buck have produced:

Hey anybody interested in a verse, by verse commentary on Romans 7? Here is a taste...Romans 7:7-25 has been one of the most debated over sections in the Bible. Bible teachers, as well as Theologians alike rarely understand it, nor teach it properly. Some say, Paul was not saved when he wrote it, while others agree that he was a Christian, but they say the struggles and wrestling he had with himself was his permanent condition through-out his life. Others make the point that we humans have two natures and we, like Paul, will always war with an evil human nature. None of these opinions ever satisfied me....

On the Road again:

Scott and Sylvia will be in Hilton Head Island, SC through October 17th, until November the 15th. Hey don't forget Pawley's Island Woman's Retreat on the 26th of Oct. Contact Jenny at: jfianning@hotmail.com for more info. Before going to HH, we will make a stop in NC. Paul Chapman and Pat Smith are hosting a meeting probably on 13 of Oct. Call me for conformation: 502-417-2110. Also, Scott and I are visiting Louis Tucker's house after being in Cary, NC, Louis and Kathy live in Concord, NC. Read Casper Schwenckfeld's article (the link is in this Newsletter) and see what Louis is reading these days.

Steve Pettit is coming to Louisville again in November. He will hold meetings at Steve and Kathy Hodge's house in Pewee Valley November 16-17. Call them for info.—502-241-1550. Also, Steve may be at our friend, Wayne Eads' Seaton Park Baptist Church on Sunday the 18th. That will be announced.

If you want to start a Bible Study in your home, Check out: http://spiritradio.net/on-demand/sermons_on_demand.htm You will find hundreds of Bible studies that you can use to teach the union truths.

Spirit Revival is happening everywhere, most amazing to me. We have been waiting a long time for this. Go, God, Go.

Quotes

"All things are delivered unto me of my Father." (Luke10:22)

Steve Pettit

Ask the Crucified One who authored His death and He will reply, "My Father." If crucified by the will of God, as horrifying as the experience was, it must end in triumph. That which comes to us by the hand of God must end in triumph! "The fullness of joy is to behold God in everything!"

Seen rightly, even pain and suffering are agents of God's steadfast love, escorting us into glory. He will expose our inadequacies, but only to reveal Himself as our adequacy. He will identify our weaknesses, so His strength might become our by experience.

When we begin to see life with God at the center, we have ears to hear Him say, "I dug your pits of fear, in order to intimately fill you with my perfect love. I dashed your house of dreams, to personally build your house of life on unshakeable reality. I meant your hellish despair, it drove you into my heavenly hope. I caused you to experience that haunting hollowness of heart...so you might be filled, intimately and personally filled, with My Life."

Letters

Sylvia,

I wanted to drop you a note to let you know our Pastor (remember him? He is the one you connected with the first year you came to visit us at my church) quoted Kierkegaard today in his sermon!!!! You would have loved his message! God is moving in him and revealing His truth to Gary and to many others at our church. The seeds God planted through your vessel are coming to bear fruit in many wonderful ways. I stand in wonder and praise!

Love you dear,

Sylvia,

I don't remember if I sent you this. I wrote it in response to one of those "I Saw Jesus" emails someone sent me about how they saw Jesus, who looked like their Dad or their friend or someone from church feeding the poor and helping an old lady across the street, and how we all need to be witnesses and show Jesus to everyone by doing good things. A nice thought, but easily taken in self-effort. So this was my reply.

Love,

Ron (Block)

I saw Jesus last Friday. He was hanging out with the worst sorts of people. Several prominent Christian leaders were giving Him angry words about His choice of friends and His behavior. He kept breaking their religious rules. They got really mad when He said it wasn't grape juice. But He didn't seem to be afraid of offending them. (In fact, He seemed to be going out of His way to do so). He said, with no small irritation in his voice, that they were petty, legalistic, and had a distorted view of God. (I wanted to tell Him that He'll never get a Christian book contract or a record deal that way...) For a minute He looked just like an ordinary guy I knew from church. But it was Jesus. I could tell by

His boldness, love for sinners, and utter disregard of what spiritually constipated legalistic folk thought of Him (I could tell who they were by their pained, pinched expressions, lack of spontaneity, and fear).

I saw Jesus this morning. He was right there in the mirror. He asked if I was going to trust Him to live through me today, if I was going to boldly agree with God that "I no longer live, but Christ lives in me." He wanted me to let go of the fleshly, lifelong, satanically-embedded ideas of myself like "I'm no good, a rotten sinner, a second-class Christian." He said instead to agree with God's idea of me, that I'm holy, accepted, loved, one Spirit with Him, a king, a priest, an intercessor, God's servant, God's friend, God's chosen, God's beloved. He said to see myself as He sees me - a vessel, a cup, filled with the Wine of Spirit. A branch in the Vine. Totally dependent, but totally one with Him, expressing His life by reliance on His indwelling Spirit. He said my actions would flow from who I trusted in, whether Him, or the devil working through my soulish, fleshly means of coping with life. He said fleshly effort can't make me be like Him; only right seeing can do that.

He said if I forget who I am momentarily and fall into sin, that I'm to simply turn back to Him, confess it, thank Him for the Blood, and forget about it, because He forgets my sins the same way. And then I'm to get back to reliance on Him immediately, dispensing with the false sense of obligation to indulge self-righteous squalling about how rotten I am. He said I was never meant to be like Christ by my own effort. I was created as a weak vessel to be filled with the Strong One, so he said to always accept it and move on.

He said if I began to trust Him like this more and more in every moment that my face would begin to be His face - to the loveless - to the sick - to the imprisoned - to the people at church - to people I loved. Even to people I can't stand. That I would manifest him even to the worst of the worst: self-righteous people. That I would become less and less self-righteous myself, because I would cease to judge myself, and so I'd quit judging other people, and vice-versa. And as I exercised that faith in Him, my love for Him and other people would get bigger and bigger, and the devil's lies would grow smaller and smaller, until finally, in every moment, He would be living as me. The deepest Me of me. And that would be the real me that God created, fully expressing His life, spontaneous, having God's life to the full, overflowing like the promised river of living water, the Spirit of Jesus Christ. He said that all I have to do is stop trying to be like Him - and just trust Him to live as me.

I said, "I don't know if I have that much faith." He told me that I am to live by the faith of the Son of God - that He is even my indwelling power to believe. He said, "Do we have a deal?" and smiled.

I said "Yes," and smiled back.

(From the Christian County Jail) (Brian and Mimi's Ministry)

In the mighty name of Jesus Christ, I send blessings down from God the Father, into, on, and around your life.

The Citadel of Self-Dependency was, and still is, a great blessing in my life. I would like to thank you for your trust in God's word that has allowed you to reach Bro. Brian who teaches me on Sunday nights at the county jail.

Self is always in the way isn't it! I complain all the time about me trying to be good when I was out. I never realized, until Christ Jesus became visible in my life, that it was Satan all along tricking me.

Thank you for laboring for the Gospel's sake,

Your brother in Christ,
Mr. Aaron J. Whaley

Hear the Spirit from a 1600 century reformer,
Casper Schwenckfeld. Here is an introduction to him, but you will find the full

Taken from: Spiritual Reformers in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries
by Rufus Jones.

Martin Luther, the great Reformer of Schwenckfeld's day couldn't go as far as Schwenckfeld did with his interpretation of the meaning of the sacraments of the Church. Luther knew justification by faith, but he still hung on to the outer forms and rituals of the Church. Consequently, he ended up being the chief persecutor of Schwenckfeld's insights and therefore had him exiled from his own home and community. Ironically though, Schwenckfeld wrote of Luther in 1543, "I owe to you in God and the truth all honour, love, and goodwill, because from the first I have reaped much fruit from your service, and I have not ceased to pray for you according to my poor powers."

For thirty years he was a wanderer with a permanent home on the earth, but he could thank his Lord Christ, as he did, for granting him through all these years an inward freedom, and for bringing him in "His castle of Peace." He once wrote, "If I had wanted a good place on earth, if I had cared more for temporal than for eternal things, and if I would have deserted my Christ, then I might have stayed in my fatherland and in my own house, and I might have had the powerful of this world for my friends."

Here is what Schwenckfeld wrote concerning Christ, Our Salvation, the Scriptures, the Church, the Lord's Supper, and Baptism.

Light for us today coming from a great 16th century Christian Mystic, Jacob Boehme

"The builders of Babel, cannot endure that one should teach that Christ Himself must be the teacher in the human heart. They jangle instead about the mere husk, about the written word and letter while they miss the living Word.

The divisions of Christendom are due to the fact that its "master-builders" are of the Babel-type. They always follow the line of opinion; their basis is "the letter", their method of approach is external. They build stone houses in which they read the writings which the Apostles left behind them, while they themselves dispute and contend about "mental idols and opinion."

The true Church of Christ, on the contrary, is the living Temple of the Spirit. It is built up of men made wholly new by the inward power of the Divine Spirit and made one by an inward unity of heart and life with Christ—as a living Twig of our Life-Tree, Jesus Christ. Nobody can belong to this Church unless he put on the shirt of a little child, dies to selfishness and hypocrisy, rises again in a new will and obedience, and forms his life in its inmost ground according to Christ, the Life. The wise world, will not believe in the true inward work of Christ in the heart; it will have only an external washing away of sins in Grace, but the ABC of true religion is for different. He only is a Christian in fact in whom Christ dwelleth, liveth and hath His being, in whom Christ hath arisen as the eternal ground of the soul. He only is a Christian who has this high title in himself, and has entered with mind and soul into that Eternal Work which has manifested itself as the life of our humanity. The Kingdom of God is not from without, but it is a new man, who lives in love, in patience, in hope, in faith and in the Cross of Jesus Christ."

Poems of the Month

See God in Everything

by Mrs. Charles E. Cowman

"It is the Lord: let him do what seemeth him good". (1 Sam. 3:18)

See God in everything, and God will calm and color all that thou dost see!" It may be that the circumstances of our sorrows will not be removed, their condition will remain unchanged; but if Christ, as Lord and Master of our life, is brought into our grief and gloom, "HE will compass us about with songs of deliverance." To see HIM, and to be sure that His wisdom cannot err, His power cannot fail, His love can never change; to know that even His direst dealings with us are for our deepest spiritual gain, is to be able to say, in the midst of bereavement, sorrow, pain, and loss, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath, taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

Nothing else but seeing God in everything will make us loving and patient with those who annoy and trouble us. They will be to us then only instruments for accomplishing His tender and wise purposes toward us, and we shall even find ourselves at last inwardly thanking them for the blessings they bring us. Nothing else will completely put an end to all murmuring or rebelling thoughts.--H. W. Smith

*"Give me a new idea," I said,
While musing on a sleepless bed;
"A new idea that'll bring to earth
A balm for souls of priceless worth;
That'll give men thoughts of things above,
And teach them how to serve and love,
That'll banish every selfish thought,
And rid men of the sins they've fought."*

*The new thought came, just how, I'll tell:
'Twas when on bended knee I fell,
And sought from HIM who knows full well
The way our sorrow to expel.
SEE GOD IN ALL THINGS, great and small,
And give HIM praise whate'er befall,
In life or death, in pain or woe,
See God, and overcome thy foe.*

*I saw HIM in the morning light,
HE made the day shine clear and bright;
I saw HIM in the noontide hour,
And gained from HIM refreshing shower.
At eventide, when worn and sad,
HE gave me help, and made me glad.
At midnight, when on tossing bed
My weary soul to sleep HE led.*

*I saw HIM when great losses came,
And found HE loved me just the same.
When heavy loads I had to bear,
I found HE lightened every care.
By sickness, sorrow, sore distress,
HE calmed my mind and gave me rest.
HE'S filled my heart with gladsome praise
Since I gave HIM the upward gaze.*

*'Twas new to me, yet old to some,
This thought that to me has become
A revelation of the way
We all should live throughout the day;
For as each day unfolds its light,
We'll walk by faith and not by sight.
Life will, indeed, a blessing bring,
If we SEE GOD IN EVERYTHING."
-A. E. Finn*

This Month’s Article:

“Introspection”

Is it Healthy for Faith People?

Sylvia Pearce

I’ve been thinking a lot about introspection in the Christian’s life. I just found a little booklet by Watchman Nee called, “The Way to Self Knowledge.” He says that Self-knowledge is important, but how we get self-knowledge is more important, and the point here in this article. Nee speaks against constant introspection as non-Biblical and he emphatically says that it can be very damaging to our Spiritual Life, basically because it is plows back up our planted seeds of faith.

It has come to my mind because someone came to me asking my advice if she should be drawn in by her counselor’s request to take her back to 3 years old.
She said that she was most uncomfortable with acting out her feelings at 3 years old. My friend said that both her parents were with the Lord and she has peace about them, and she personally forgives them for their past dysfunction's in their family.

I took a strong stand against what the counselor wanted her to do, because she is coming into faith about her life and learning who she really is. And because as we put our past in God's perfect plan for our lives, God redeems all the fears and hurts and actually uses the past to build the future. Anyway, I'm not sure that that kind of therapy couldn't be putting you under some kind of hypnosis, which could open your mind up to know what.

Then after this incident, I ran across this booklet of Watchman Nee's. He says that there is no Biblical proof of such self examination. There is only two places in the New Testament that talk about examining yourself, and both are in their own scope of things. One, at the communion table, and that is to examine if you are rightly discerning the Lord's blood and body, and the other one is in II Cor 13: 1-5, when Paul challenges them to see if they are really in the faith. The proof being if they were embracing weakness and living by faith in the life of Christ, they were in the faith, otherwise if they were living by their own sufficiency's, and they were not in the faith.. No where else does the New T. tell us to be introspective. Nee's booklet says that, independently from the Spirit's light we will only think too much of ourselves, or belittle ourselves. The right way to self-knowledge is exactly what Paul did about his problem in Romans Seven--he went straight to the Holy Spirit and ask Him for light on the subject, and along with His light comes the Holy Spirit's power to deliver.

(See my Romans Seven commentary):

<http://theliberatingsecret.org/Authors/Pearce/New%20Romans%207.pdf>)

I think that psychology is beneficial to get unbelievers out of denial, and maybe get broken down Christians within hearing distance, but basically, if not handled carefully it can be a substitute deliverer and a diversion from simply faith in the wisdom of God. I think that counselors' have to be very astute in the Spirit and not lead their people into self-improvement through self-effort, and constant self-introspection. Introspection makes us "behavior/flesh minded," instead of "Christ in you/Spirit," minded. Romans 8 is clear about being overly mindful about your soul/body—it actually says that such concentration is death (Rom. 8:5-6). I love the Hebrews scripture that says, "Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, LOOKING (away) unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith." (Heb. 12:1-2) Nee says, that the word "away" is in the original Greek. That means that you have to look away from the flesh to Look unto Jesus, and what and who Jesus says you are, which is, of course, walking in the Spirit. So if the Bible tells us to look away from our own opinion of ourselves, however good or bad that you might think, and look to Jesus who will transform you into His image, then why do we have to look into our past life and figure out what went wrong? Absurd! It is only looking unto Jesus that we are healed from past pain. Our good friend, Steve Pettit once wrote in his monthly Newsletter, Speaking as God, he says, "I dug your pits of fear, in order to intimately fill you with my perfect love. I dashed your house of dreams, to personally build your house of life on unshakeable reality. I meant your hellish despair, it drove you into my heavenly hope. I caused you to experience that haunting hollowness of heart...so you might be filled, intimately and personally filled, with My Life."

One of my friends said to her son when he was in a deep sin, "This IS what you are doing, but it is not who you are." That statement freed him. Also, another person that I know was in therapy for years for an eating disorder, and after mega-medication costing megabucks, her mother-in-law, who by the way knew Norman, came to the hospital and said to her. "Get out of bed, this is not who you are, Christ is your life." She went home against her doctor's advice, and was healed, never again to return to her disorder. Now she is a great Bible teacher of Christ, Our Life truths. Then again, a friend told me a story about a little prostitute's plea to God. "Lord, please deliver me, but you are not going to get any help from me." I believe most Christians are still trying to help God do what only God can do. Another friend of mine from England, Barbara Rodgerson, once wrote this in a letter to me: "The more I seemed to dig and explore on a psychological level, the more elusive the 'roots' to my problem became. I was like an onion with endless peels and no end in sight. Just tear another layer and more strong odors appeared, and that smell, more often than not, reeked of shame. I had to finally give it all up in place of the finished work of the Cross, where I found my final resting place."

The Bible gives us the way of escape from past scares, it says, "Consider the earthly members of your body dead" (Col. 3:5)(NAS) that means to all forms of iniquity, which is are the sins that are past down generationally through our natural family. And the Bible says to Born Again people that, "old things are past away, behold all things are become new" (II Cor 5:17). All the old things that are past away are the old man's iniquity (generational sins). Our past was done away with at the Cross, Isaiah 53:6 says, " And the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." And, "By His stripes we are healed." That means the Lord has already healed us from all generational sins, curses and injustices. Faith apprehends this fact and calls it a present reality. Now what is left for Psychologist to do? A good friend of mine had this to say: "Regarding psychology..."We do have a psyche. It does get ruts in it from our childhood. These ruts cause us to act in unhealthy, fearful, unbelieving ways - that is where God has to 'save our souls'. Psychology comes along and says, "Here's how and why you got those ruts. Now that you know, you're cured." Wrong. Christ comes along and says, "I am greater than your psyche." He saves us from those ruts; he fills them up with himself as we let go of those old-man fears." Great Word!

You might say, well my friends are breaking down, I would say, good. Don't try to rescue them, let them break down. Pain precipitates seeking for God's answers to our problems. The precious Holy Spirit is the teacher, counselor, and healer, I recommend Him. But, you say, "I'm not hearing from Him." I say, "insist—hang on and don't let go until He blesses you—be like Jacob—it is because he did not let go of God, he knew union with God and his name was changed to "Israel", That is how I personally found my answers. Hey has any one read, "The Treasures of Darkness?"

Here is something great from Watchman Nee's booklet, "The Way to Self-Knowledge":

"Two years ago I read a fable about a centipede and a frog. During their conversation the frog asked the centipede. "You have so many feet, how do you walk? When you walk, which of your hundred feet moves first?" So the centipede tried to figure out which foot moved first. No matter how he tried he could not put forth one foot. He became so disgusted that he declared, "I do not care, I am going." Yet before he could make a move, he was again thinking of which foot moved first. He was thus completely paralyzed. After a while the sunlight broke through the cloud. When he saw the light his heart was so enthralled with it that he just ran after the sunlight. Gone was his concern over the order of his foot movement. He was actually moving forward. Now this fable can serve as a mirror to our Christian life. Whenever we turn to look at ourselves we are immobilized and cannot advance; but if we look at the light of God, we shall unconsciously move ahead."
